- Mr. Jerry Ross, President, National Entrepreneur Center, facilitated the discussion with the following panelists:
 - Gaby Ortigoni, President/CEO, Hispanic Chamber of Metro Orlando
 - John Newstreet, President/CEO, Kissimmee/Osceola County Chamber of Commerce
 - Tanisha Nunn Gary, President, African American Chamber- Central Florida
 - Robert Agrusa, President/CEO, Central Florida Hotel & Lodging Association (CFHLA)

Key highlights from discussion:

- Entry level jobs in demand but no incentive for people to go back to work vs. collecting unemployment.
- People who lost jobs due to pandemic found other job opportunities – hard to get those people back now.
- Employers combining positions to reduce costs – existing staff are taking on more responsibilities than former staff did.
- Sectors on the rise: construction, technical (tech jobs in every industry sector), logistics (delivery, audio/visual), home improvement companies.
- Hospitality jobs in demand but issues finding workers – needing to attract with incentives and wage increase.
- Big turnaround with entry level jobs – people lacking basic and soft skills.
- Increase focus to better partner with the high schools and do more to provide internships, apprenticeships to help connect youth to working world and learn skills (Summer Youth Program is helpful).
- Businesses should invest in interns, but leverage funds to sustain.
- Create high school level leadership programs - similar to programs like Leadership Seminole or Leadership Osceola.
- Areas that career seekers are looking for: stability, consistent work hours, more benefits, higher pay, upward mobility.
