Course Description: Coding

The coding program will engage students in hands-on activities taught by an experienced instructor from the information technology field. Students will learn how to setup and use different components of Raspberry Pi. Students will also use Codecademy to learn basics of HTML and CSS to use in website development. Skills learned in Codecademy will then be applied while creating a basic website using WordPress.